There are xxx thiamethoxam technical producers in China as of June 2012, including xxx active producers, xxx idle producers and xxx potential producers.

Since the total capacity volume of thiamethoxam is very large compared with its total output volume at present, and the competition is fierce with so many companies having entered the industry, the operating rate of each thiamethoxam producer is very low.

xxx producers have suspended their production of thiamethoxam technical in 2012 because of the influence of the patent protection and they may enter the area next year, namely xxx and xxx. However, xxx suspends its production because it has realized that there are too many producers while too skimpy profit in this industry.

Meanwhile, xxx enterprises still believe that the future of thiamethoxam will be bright and are ready to enter the industry.

By the way, most players in this industry in China are small native companies.
